Students Receiving Financial Aid

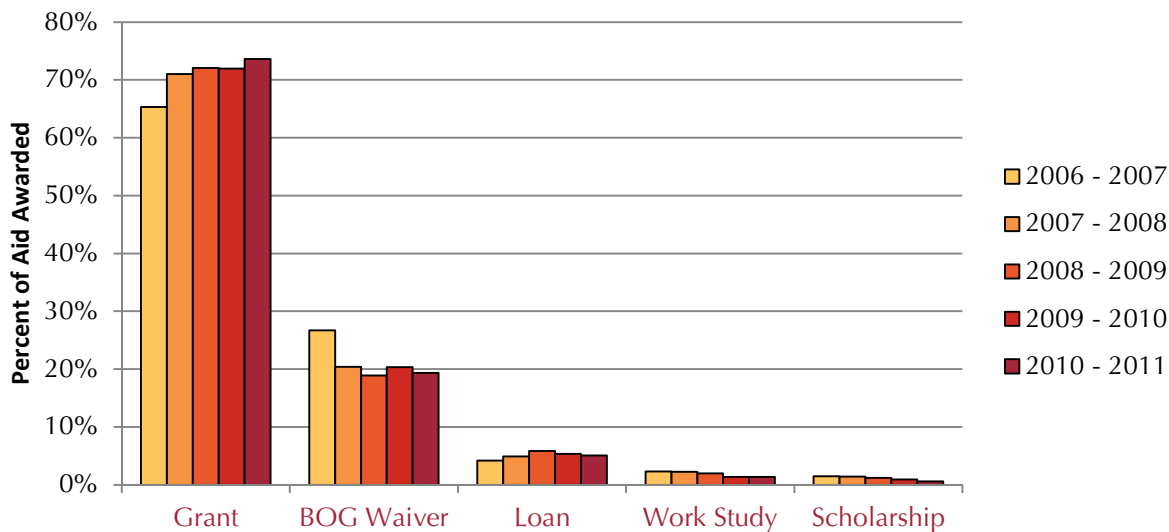

Academic Year

The data presented are only for financial aid which is handled through PCC and reported to the Chancellor's Office. The dollar amount of financial aid awarded has doubled from academic year 2006 – 2007 to 2010 – 2011. And the number of students receiving financial aid in 2010 – 2011 is up nearly a third from its low point in 2007 – 2008. In 2011 – 2012 53.9% of PCC students received some form of financial aid.

Amount of Aid Awarded by Aid Type

The major categories of financial aid are grants (73.6%), BOG Waivers (19.3%), and loans (5.1%). The mix of these categories has remained relatively constant through the large increase in the dollar amount of aid awarded since 2007 – 2008.

Financial Aid Students Enrolled in Fall Term

The number of students receiving financial aid has increased every Fall starting from Fall 2008. Note that because of issues of data availability, the range of years is one year earlier than most of the other data reported in Observations. The students represented in this count, and for whom demographic information is presented, received financial aid at some point in the academic year and enrolled in the Fall term.

Fall 2010 Financial Aid Students by Ethnicity

The ethnic mix of students receiving financial aid is similar to that of the PCC credit student population in general. However there are slightly higher percentages of financial aid recipients who are Hispanic, Asian/Pacific Islander, or African American, and lower percentages of Whites or all other ethnicities.

Financial Aid Students by Ethnicity

The ethnic mix of students receiving financial aid is changing in ways similar to that of the PCC credit student population in general. The percentages of students with ethnicities of Asian or unknown is decreasing, while the Hispanic percentage is increasing. Smaller changes showing an increase in Whites and a decrease in African Americans do not seem to mirror the general student population.

Fall 2010 Financial Aid Students by Educational Goal

The mix of educational goals chosen by financial aid recipients is similar to the general PCC credit student population. Three quarters hope to transfer, either with or without an Associate degree.

Financial Aid Students by Educational Goal

The pattern of changes in the educational goals of financial aid recipients is similar to that of the general PCC credit student population. There has been a shift from students choosing the goal of transferring without a degree to transferring with an Associate degree, and the goal of improving basic skills has increased in popularity. Since the financial aid data starts a year prior to the other data, the goal of receiving a terminal AA degree is present among financial aid students for the 2006 – 2007 year.
